JYM Academic Program Review

As an academic program with the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at Wayne State University, JYM undergoes periodic external and internal review as would any university department or academic program. We decided that 2006/07 would be an appropriate time to undertake a thorough review of the program, since it corresponded to several important moments in JYM's history:

- 2006 marked 10 years since the closing of Wayne State's Junior Year in Freiburg program, and the subsequent expansion and enhancement of Wayne State's Junior Year in Munich.
- 2006 marked 10 years since JYM was guided by a new program director in Detroit, Dr. Mark Ferguson, and a new resident director in Munich, Dr. Hans-Peter Söder.
- 2006 also marked the 75th anniversary of the JYM tradition at LMU Munich, and coincided with the year that the U.S. Senate designated as the Year of Study Abroad.

The year-long Academic Program Review process consisted of an extensive Self-Study, an External Program Review Team that would visit both Munich and Detroit, and an internal WSU Program Review Advisory Panel.

Our goal was to have JYM evaluated from the standpoint of academic integrity as well as operational and administrative procedures. To this end, we based our 131-page Self-Study on two documents: 1) the "Self-Study Guidelines for Departments/Programs" issued by the Office of the Provost and Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs, and 2) the "Standards of Good Practice for Education Abroad" developed by The Forum on Education Abroad.

Members of the external and internal review teams were selected by Dr. Nancy Barrett, Provost and Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs at Wayne State University, who asked both review teams to submit confidential reports of their findings to the Office of Academic Program Review.

The External Program Review Team consisted of:

Dr. Heidi Soneson
Program Director, Learning Abroad Center
University of Minnesota-Twin Cities

Professor Anton Kaes
Class of 1939 Professor of German & Film Studies
Department of German
University of California-Berkeley

The WSU Program Review Advisory Panel consisted of:

Professor Barrett Watten
Department of English
College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Professor James M. Thomas
Department of Theatre
College of Fine, Performing and Communication Arts

The JYM Self-Study was submitted to the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at WSU, and distributed to the external and internal review teams. The External Program Review Team visited the JYM program in Munich from Friday, July 6, 2007 to Monday, July 9, 2007, followed by a concluding day at Wayne State University in Detroit on Tuesday, July 10, 2007.

The post-review meeting was held October 31, 2007 with the Provost, the Dean of the College, the Associate Vice President for Undergraduate Programs and General Education, and the Dean of the Graduate School in attendance.

Both review teams praised the academic integrity of the program, and commended JYM for its innovative program options, excellent organization, dedication to student service, and commitment to integrating US students into German student life and university studies.

LMU Munich - University Courses Taken

The academic integration of US undergraduates with university studies in Germany has remained the primary goal of JYM since the program was founded more than 75 years ago.

JYM students today are enrolled in more than 100 LMU Munich courses annually (five year average).

JYM students enroll in regular LMU Munich courses, as opposed to DaF courses designed for foreign students.

JYM Internships

JYM first began to offer internship experience on an ad hoc basis in 1995 with ISA Consult, GmbH. After partnering with CDS International in 2002 and the American-German Business Club e.V. in 2006, we have significantly increased internship opportunities in Munich. As a result, 31% of JYM students on the 2006/07 program were able to add overseas internship experience to their resume.

2005/06 German Chancellor Scholarship

JYM 2003/04	Matt Rao	University of Pennsylvania
-------------	----------	----------------------------

Matt was first introduced to JYM as a Munich Summer Fellow in 2002 during his sophomore year at the University of Pennsylvania. While on the program the following year, JYM arranged for him an internship at the Bundestag in Berlin. Immediately upon graduation Matt was awarded the prestigious Bundeskanzler Stipendium which brought him back once again to Germany. He returned to the US in November 2006 after 15 months as a Humboldt Foundation Bundeskanzler Fellow working in the City Planning Division in Halle (Sachsen-Anhalt). Matt's research project on "Urban Redevelopment Practices in American and East German Shrinking Cities" led him to "some unexpected and pretty exciting directions," he writes, "the best of which was the founding of a non-profit Verein called HausHalten to connect artists and small business start-ups with the owners of vacant buildings – many of which date back to the Gründerzeit" (www.haushaltenhalle.de). In exchange for maintaining general upkeep (electricity, water, roof repair, etc.), stakeholders such as artists, architects and other organizations will be allowed to live in the abandoned houses rent-free for up to ten years. These so-called Häuser Wächter will protect vacant houses from vandalism and ensure their preservation until suitable investors are found. (From: JYM Alumni Newsletter, Spring 2007)
